

On March 25, 2006 a cleanup of the Moonrocks area of the Hungry Valley Recreation area was conducted by members of Reno4X4.com. Reno4X4.com is an internet based group of four-wheel drive enthusiasts. The cleanup primarily focused on removal of large amounts of graffiti on the rocks.

Weeks earlier, members of this group visited Moonrocks and observed the graffiti that had recently been spray painted on the rocks. An internet discussion followed and plans to organize a work day to remove the graffiti were formed. Individual members sought donations of equipment and supplies from local businesses including sandblasting equipment and portable toilets.

In all there were about a 21 participants.

The Moonrocks area tagged with graffiti.

Sandblasting graffiti from the granite rock.

Moments later the graffiti is gone.

Moonrocks after a long day of graffiti removal.