

Description

This Township contains a large amount of good soil and is mostly covered with a dense growth of timber of a superior quality, principally Gamewack & Fir and in the Western Portion there is a considerable quantity of Sugar Pine & Cedar. Mountain Mahogany also abounds in this township, which is a species of very hard wood but does not grow to a considerable size.

There are also some very fine natural meadows in this township, and water of the very best quality is abundant in every part thereof.
