

GENERAL DESCRIPTION.

This Sp. is nearly all on an open plain covered with a dense growth of Sage brush & greasewood.

There is sand all over & in some places where the sand hills have covered over all vegetation the land is worthless.

The sand is such that it is easily carried by the wind, so much so that a heavy storm may change the entire topography of the country in a single night.

Herbert B. Mason
U. S. D. S.