

General Description

Most of this township is mountainous. The exception being in the south portion embracing what is known as Willing Valley where there are settlements & farming.

Scattered throughout, & more particularly in the bottoms of ravines, are small patches of land susceptible of agriculture by means of irrigation.

The feed is abundant over the whole township & it is fairly well watered by springs & the North fork of the Humboldt River.

There is no timber in this township.