

General Description

The soil of this township is sandy and stony and appears to be of little value..There is no vegetation besides the growth of sage brush and buch grass noted. There is no water in the township and no one living therein.