General Description.

This township is mountainous in the eastern, the southwestern and the northwestern portions. Along the drainage channel, which runs through the tp. from N. to S., on both sides for a distance back of approximately a mile, and in secs. 28, 29, 32 and 33, there is land which is level, or not very rolling. This land has good soil, but could not be successfully cultivated without irrigation, and there is no water
